INVITATION HOMES TEAM MEMBERS SHARE SPIRIT OF GIVING WITH COMMUNITIES AROUND THE COUNTRY

Volunteers Work with Local Charities, Take Part in Days of Service

DALLAS – December 19, 2018 – Invitation Homes (NYSE: INVH) offices around the country volunteered their time during the holiday season working with local charities and communities in need of assistance. From organizing food drives and collecting toys, to assisting the homeless and writing letters of gratitude to those serving our country, Invitation Homes associates were grateful to lend a helping hand.

“Our associates have deep ties to the communities where they work and call home. They frequently partner with local charitable organizations and know how particularly difficult the holidays can be for many community members,” said Dallas Tanner, founder and interim president of Invitation Homes. “One of our company values is to be a standout citizen and a good neighbor by contributing to the well-being of the communities where we live and operate. We acknowledge and honor the differing priorities and needs of each of our communities and work to ensure our contributions and volunteerism are meaningful and impactful!”

We are honored that so many of our offices shared in the spirit of giving. In total, Invitation Homes team members gathered and delivered toys to hundreds of children, packed and delivered tens of thousands of meals, and penned hundreds of letters to active-duty military:
